INTRODUCTION

Introduction & Purpose

The USA Historical AFV Register is intended to provide a cataloging of all of the historical Armored Fighting Vehicles (AFV), including tanks, APCs and self-propelled artillery, etc that are on preserved or otherwise displayed in museums or as monuments in the United States. As such the registry ranges from the World War I-era Skeleton Tank to modern M1 Abrams tanks. However, the registry is not intended to include modern AFVs that are still in service.

Format

The USA Historical AFV Register is organized by state and city or town as follows.

STATE

CITY OR TOWN

Location (GPS Coordinates)

AFV Model Man./User status Notes and/or location

Man./User denotes the original manufacturer (country) and various users, using three letter country codes.

Status is denoted by one of the following codes.

ind = indoor display

out = outdoor display

std = stored (this can be either indoor our outdoor storage, but clearly not on display)

wre = wreck (typically vehicles recovered from a target range or simply in very bad condition)

Often, if there are a large number of AFVs on display in a particular town or military post, sub listings are also provided, organized by location - museum, building, road, etc.

Many of the vehicles listed as "Unconfirmed" are from the "Central Registry" of donated vehicles maintained by the U.S. Army's Tank-automotive and Armaments Command (TACOM). Many of these vehicles donated to American Legion and VFW Posts may actually be located in local parks. Additionally, many of the "Unconfirmed" World War II era vehicles – such as Sherman and Stuart tanks – have since been moved or may no longer exist.

Additional information about a particular vehicle is often included in footnotes.

Serial Numbers (SN) and Registration Numbers, aka "USA" numbers (RN) are given when available. Note that many M60 tanks have two SNs, the original one as built and an Anniston Army Depot (AAD) rebuild SN (which ends in an A) or a Mainz Army Depot (MAD) SN (which ends in an M). For British and Canadian WWII era vehicles, War Department (WD) Numbers are given when known, as are post-war Vehicle Registration Numbers (VRN) for British vehicles.

Sources

The USA Historical AFV Register is compiled from a number of sources. Firstly, the register is an expansion of Leslie Delsing's Wrecks and Relics in the USA tank registry, posted to the AFV News Discussion Board on 22 May 2006. The register has also been greatly expanded thanks to armyjunk2 and his copy of the TACOM Central Registry. Some of the other notable online sources include the Waymarking Military Ground Equipment Displays site, the former Tanks for the Memories geocaching site, The Sherman Register, Toadman's Tank Pictures, Trevor Larkum's Preserved Tanks, Robert Buettner's War Memorials of Wisconsin, and Don Moriarty's The History of the Ontos as well as forums and message groups such as the AFV News Discussion Board, G104 (the Sherman Register mailing list), G103 (dedicated to Stuart tanks), and G136 (dedicated to M8 Greyhound and M20 armored cars). Where possible, the origin of information on a particular vehicle is denoted in footnotes. A large number of individual contributors, many of which are credited throughout the registry, have provided invaluable information.

Note

All Serial Numbers, Registration Numbers, War Department Numbers, Vehicle Registration Numbers, etc come from the public domain or directly from the owner with permission. Public domain includes publicly visible areas of the vehicle (commonly stamped or marked on the exterior) when on display, data plates if visible/open to display, or other public domain forums and sources (such as reference works, the AFV News Discussion Board, G104, Sherman Register, etc).

Special thanks

Special thanks goes to Pierre-Olivier Buan and Silvio Iacuone, who took the time to check this version for errors and added both valuable information.

²³ Prototype

²⁴ Missing tracks.

²⁵ Hull only, barrel is lying near the vehicle.

²⁶ No guns

²⁷ Only one build.

²⁸ Used to be on the mile of tanks, date of acquisition 20/06/1950 (Rick Eshleman, afv Discussion Board, 07/2015)

²⁹ Slugger, has RN 40177404 (Joe DeMarco, G104, 4/2004). Formerly at the US Army Ordnance Museum, Aberdeen Proving ground, Md. M36 Serial Number 76 did not have a main gun muzzle brake installed at the factory. It is thought that the muzzle brake was installed and tested on this tank at Aberdeen Proving Ground, and that it was retained in the museum's collection

³⁰ Identified by Joe DeMarco (G104, 4/2004).

³¹ Burned out. 1 of 9 known US surv. Information from Joe DeMarco (G104, 9/2004). Built by Chrysler in October, 1943

³² Used by the French army, carried the name Niederbronn (probably in honor of a WWII Sherman of the same name). It was later used as a monument in Bad Kissingen by the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment and 1st Squadron, 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment. Arrived at APG c1/2006. SN from Joe DeMarco (G104, 3/2006).

³³ This tank has an HVSS suspension and a 76mm gun. Built by Fisher and is S/N 69278, accepted in May 1945, the final month of production (Joe DeMarco). It is one of two pilot models that were built on British request.

³⁴ Railhead 9/2005 Joe DeMarco (G104, 8/2003)

³⁵ Build by Cadillac 05/1944. Kurt Laughlin (G103, 6/2003). See also Hunnicutt, Stuart (San Francisco: Presidio Press, 1992), 364.

³⁶ Has 3 shocks per side. . Training and test vehicle used at Yuma Proving Ground, according to the Ordnance Museum Guide CD. Earliest known existing M60. Unique shock configuration identified by Joe D (12/2006).

³⁷ Only survivor.

³⁹ Pilot No. 3 ex-Patton Mus. acquired from the Fort Knox Patton Museum in 1971, in exchange for the King Tiger. Painted RN is from a picture of Pilot No. 5.

⁴⁰ Arrived at APG 1917. One of five surviving examples in the world.

⁴¹ Recovered from Tunisia. Ordnance Museum Guide CD and Tank Data, 69.

⁴² Hydrostatic drive, PzKpfw IV Ausf FG mit hydrostatischen Antrieb, only one built. It was discovered and placed as a pillbox near the factory, according to the Ordnance Museum Guide CD, as well as Tank Data, 55. See also Achtung Panzer!

⁴³ Recovered from Italy, Tank Data, 77.

⁴⁴ Recovered from France.

⁴⁵ Captured by Israel in Sinai in 1956.

⁶³ Museum Director G.B. Jarrett mounted a 37mm gun on this PzKpfw III for display purposes. According to Thomas Jentz, Jarrett took a 7.5 cm KwK L/43 for display out of a rebuilt PzKpfw IV Ausf D (presumably the D/E/F model) that came out of Sicily and replaced it with the 7.5 cm KwK L/24 out of the PzKpfw III Ausf N. The tank originally came from Tunisia.

⁶⁴ The US Marine Corps Museum in Quantico, Virginia has the the first Sample tank made in the USA. This tank is on loan from Smithsonian Institution and has a data plate reading "Sample Tank, Mild Steel, Not for service". When the US Army copied the FT-17, they made the turret mount to accomodate the Hotchkiss 8mm machinegun (Hayes Otoupalik)

⁶⁵ Formerly at APG, 203rd Military Intelligence Battalion

⁶⁶ Most likely captured by Israeli forces (Ordnance Museum Guide CD).

⁶⁷ Likely served with 8th Mechanized Brigade, 3rd Saladin Armored Division, according to Museum Ordnance, November 1993.

²⁰³ The M4A1 is not serial 525. It is a number related to the hull only, the 525th hull cast by Continental-Hubbard factory.

From Joe DeMarco : The serial number of the Chino is unknown, since it doesn't have its dataplate. However, it has the loose build number 786 stamped in to the side of the hull in the rear. I think it was assumed that that was the tank's serial number, & that is how it came to get the USA Number 3015543. As best I can determine, 786 means that it was the 786th Pressed Steel Car cast hull. (They were making welded hull M4s at the same ³³⁸ Built by Fisher as a M4A3(75) VVSS in December 1944 (Jim Goetz). Of interest on that unit is that the spacers for the gun travel lock were apparently removed from a Jumbo & retrofitted to a regular M4A3 hull. This seems like more trouble than it would have been worth simply to make a display tank. It may have been done by a remanufacturing firm to make a useable post war Sherman.

³³⁹ Barfly; Has RN 30116372 (Jeff Button). SN identified by Joe DeMarco. Formerly at 4th ID Museum Fort Hood. This is one of 525 M4A3(76) VVSS manufactured by Fisher, it was remanufactured to HVSS in the 1950s. We only know 4 surviving M4A3(76) manufactured by Fisher.

³⁵⁹ NON DV, manufactured by ALCO in April, 1943.

³⁶⁰ Named BRACHA

Formerly at the Ropkey Armor Museum, Crawfordsville, IN, named Cocky.

³⁶¹ Named "BUPKES", has RN 40146601 painted on. Formally owned by Northeast Military Vehicle Services, Shrewsbury, Massachusetts

³⁶² Named OY-VEY

³⁶³ Currently under restoration by Ivo Richter from BAIV, The Netherlands.

³⁶⁴ Named "CHUTZPAH"

³⁶⁵ Named "MESHUGGAH"

³⁶⁶ Built by Fisher in May, 1944. This tank is from the first batch of 300 M36s produced by Fisher between April and July, 1944, and that served in Europe from September, 1944

³⁶⁷ Painted RN 3069743. Used to be Becky now Golem.

³⁶⁸ Built by Chrysler in October, 1944. Formerly owned by Fred Ropkey. When the tank was restored, the Serial Number was painted as the USMC Registration Number, but this is incorrect as this RN was not used for a USMC Sherman. The USMC had its own registration number system, which towards the end of WW2, consisted of 6 digits, beginning with "10". Renamed Fred in his honor

³⁶⁹ Stuart Replica, build on a M5 HST chassis, named "BUDDY"

³⁷⁰ Identified by Silvio Iacuone

³⁷¹ Named Kohen. Been rebuild to B1 by BAIV from Marheeze, The Netherlands. The vehicle originally comes from Stadtdendorf fire range in Germany

³⁷² Tiger Replica used in Band of Brothers and Saving Private Ryan

The hatch pivots to the side instead of up and back (Joe D Afv discussion Board 02/2014). the hatches and MG ball mount on the front glacis are not original. I think that the front was cut open, maybe for agricultural use. The museum probably had to reconstruct part of the front hull to display the tank (P-O Buan).

⁵³⁹ Firefly M4A2 w/ Firefly turret. The turret is probably the one sent by Great Britain to the United States in 1944/1945 (along with a sister sent to Canada) and originally mounted on an M4A3 Sherman for test by the AGF Board and the Ordnance Department, according to Mark Hayward, Sherman Firefly (Essex, England: Barbarossa Books, 2001), p 145, 153 and David Fletcher, Military Ordnance Special No. 19 Sherman VC M4A4 Firefly (Darlington, Md.: Darlington Productions, 1997). If so, the placement of the turret on this M4A2 appears to have been done post-war. The Sherman hull is the first M4A2 hull built by American Locomotive, according to Joe DeMarco (G104, 4/2004 and 7/2006).

⁵⁴⁴ This Marder belonged to the APG collection and was on loan to the museum in Sinsheim (GE). It was for a short time with the Weatcroft and returned to the US in June 2012

⁵⁴⁵ The vehicle was attached to the s.Pz.Jg.Abt 653 and had the vehicle number 331. The vehicle was captured near Neustadt an der Weinstraße, Germany in March 1945. Damage is still visible on the gun mantlet, glacis plate, and lower nose armor. This vehicle used the late version 9 tooth sprocket ring, for use with the 'contact shoe' and 'connector link' style continuous track it shared with the Tiger II. ⁵⁶⁸ Spähpanzer Luchs early model/prototype. Built between 1968 and 1975 as recon vehicle with experience carried over from wartime 8 x 8 vehicles she sported a 20 mm cannon with speeds on up to 90 kph and was designed with silent running in mind.

The difference between this and production model are subtle, the shape between the road-wheels is triangular and not squared off, the escape hatches are smaller and not beveled in with release handles. the front is flatter with a single towing distinct towing mount between the eyelets. The nose upper and right/left sides are more angles and similar to the BTR in so,e ways as well as forward mounting grips(Ed Webster on Facebook).

⁵⁶⁹ This T-55 Enigma was actually captured before the outbreak of the ground war when the Iraqis crossed the border into Saudi Arabia at Khafji - according to the news, it was captured by Saudi forces - but in actuality it was captured by the US Marines (Charles R. Lemons). This one is based on an RU hull (formerly a 54 upgraded to 55) then exported to Poland before going to IRQ and being converted. the Enigma (its NATO name based on a report following the 1980 Baghdad arms fair, where it was written "We dont know much about this vehicle and it remains an Enigma") Ive found no evidence to suggest 'Al Faw' was a name used for this machine. The main difference is the large applique boxes with a series of metal and rubber layers inside that act as a NxRA demi-bulge/material attrition composite protection similar too early Chobham types notably Burlington(1969-1976). Tested by the US on post war captured versions it was able to stop both TOW and Milan missiles effectively. Whilst not effective versus 120 mm NATO APFSDS from the period it was designed to fight Iranian vehicles of a similar class and would have been more than capable of doing so having both a greater composite volume that older Soviet LR penetration lengths and above mentioned SC protection.

One myth we can put to bed is that they are haphazardly made with little inter-commonality, measurements and rivet counting shows that they are remarkably similar and thus followed a set series of factory blueprints. this in one of 3-4 known survivors with another at Bovington (Calvin and Hobbs) one if France and a further in the US at Knox(Ed Webster).

⁵⁷³ The T34 was the final evolutionary design to come out of the late-World War II heavy tank development, having been preceded by the T29 and T30 series of heavy tank testbeds. The T34 program was authorized on 17 May 1945, with the goal to arm two T30 heavy tanks (which were armed with monstrous, but lower veloctiy, 155mm main guns) with the new high velocity 120mm Gun T53. While today?s M1A2 Abrams tank also has a 120mm gun, the T34?s 120mm gun necessitated the use of two-piece ammunition that weighted in at 100 pounds when combined. This required two loaders in the T34's crew for effective operation. While the T34 or

⁶⁴³ This vehicle was part of the 1. Panzer Division in its Panzer Aufklärungs Abteilung (reconnaissance battalion). The 1. Panzer Division was listed as still having 12 Marder IIs as of March 1945. It has been shipped to the United States after having been surrendered in Austria to the U.S. forces as the war ended (Garry Redmon)

⁶⁴⁴ This Panzer II ausf F was once part of Panzer-Abteilung 190 in the 90. Liechte Division in North Africa. It was captured, along with an SdKfz 233 8-rad armored car by the U.S. 1st Ranger Battalion at El Guettar, Tunisia in the Spring of 1943. After its capture, it was painted with U.S. markings. The Panzer II was shipped to the Aberdeen Proving Grounds for trials and placed in the Ordnance Museum collection after the war (Garry Redmon). This tank was on loan to the Panzermuseum Munster (Germany) and was brought back to the USA in June 2012 (Don Moriarty)

⁶⁴⁵ Formerly behind the Patton Museum

The NACM's Panzer III is one of the 450 Ausf. F variants produced. However it is unique. Ausf. Fs were originally produced with the 37mm KwK 36 L/45, though later this was upgraded to the 50mm KwK38 L/48. Our Ausf. F was upgraded later in its service to the longer and more powerful 50mm KwK 39 L/60. It also received numerous armor upgrades, including reinforced armor on its front upper hull and the addition of Schurzen (skirts) to the turret. This makes this particular Panzer III Ausf. F appear closer to the later Ausf. J standard. However, her "Fahrgestellnummer" (chassis number) of 61266 reveals her true identity. Her interior is relatively untouched since World War II.

⁶⁴⁶ This tank was recovered from Tunisia, according to the Aberdeen museum. It was previously on display at Aberdeen and was then transferred to Fort Knox in July 2008, and to Fort Benning in 2011. This vehicle is currently stored and is not publicly visible.

The Panzer IV has a feature that may cause some to think it is an ausf F2 version because it has the rounded, globular muzzle brake instead of the baffle type muzzle brake found on ausf G models. While this was always considered a feature of the F2, this vehicle has an ausf G turret that is signified by the lack of the right turret front port and vision ports on the turret sides forward of the side doors. It does have, however, signal ports in the driver's and RO's hatches, a feature that was on ausf F version hulls.

This vehicle may have been built during the transition from F to G (AFTA website)

⁶⁴⁷ Recovered from either France or Italy - conflicting information in Tank Data, and the Ordnance Museum Guide CD respectively.

Formerly at Aberdeen proving ground

⁶⁴⁸ This tank was on loan to Germany (Sinsheim Auto + Technik Museum, Panzermuseum Munster) and was returned back to the USA in July 2012. Fahrgestell number 250031. Belonged to the s. Pz. Abt. 504, the tactical number was "712". It was captured in Tunis in May 1943 (Alex Pankov)

⁶⁴⁹ This particular vehicle, hull number 280243 and with the tactical number 332, belonged to the Schwere SS Panzerabteilung 501 (Heavy SS Tank Unit 501) which was part of the infamous Kampfgruppe Peiper. Though dominating in its appearance and firepower, the story of 332 highlights the flaws of the King Tiger design: 75 years ago today on 18 December 1944, records show that 332 experienced "mechanical difficulties" and was abandoned along a road just east of the Belgian village of Coe. A week later, 332 would become U.S. Army property when the M4 Shermans of the U.S. 740th Tank Battalion cleared the area. After refueling, repairing, and recovery, 332 was the first fully operational King Tiger to make it back to the United States for testing and

⁷³⁹ Missing mantlet & gun

⁷⁴⁰ "4th Armored Divison General Sherman Tank Knocked Out During the Battle of the Bulge Dec. 16 1944 - Jan.23 1945" is painted on the (4 inch?) slabs of (German?) armor welded on the the hull sides. Battle of the Bulge casualty seems doubtful in that the up-armorng process did not commence until February. The glacis armor was taken directly from another Sherman, complete with hull lifting rings as well as headlamp and gun travel lock fittings. According to Joe DeMarco, with no prospect of further deliveries of Jumbos, in February 1945, the Third Army embarked on a program to "up-armor" its M4A3(76)s (P-O Buan).

⁸⁸⁰ Build by Ford in may 1943 as a M10A1, RN 40469XX witch is a Ford M10A1 registration. It was later converted to M36 probably by Montreal Locomotive Co. This is an ex-Yugoslavian Army vehicle, probably equipped with a T-55 engine. Has the E9 spaced out suspension. Serial by David D. Jackson

⁸⁸¹ Built by Fisher in March 1944. The appliqué armor on the side was most probably applied to repair a damage, as the tank might be a WW2 combat veteran. It was formerly displayed at Ferris Barracks, Erlangen, Germany (Joe DeMarco)

⁹¹⁴ Formerly at Fort Riley

⁹¹⁵ This is one of the few places where they actually have a power plant co located with a tank, and out doors at that. Without trying to sound like a nit picker, that engine/transmission combo is not for an M60 (A0). The engine is an AVDS-1790-2DA and the transmission is fitted with Hydro-mechanical brakes on the output shafts. It's a 2DA engine based on the 300 amp air cooled generator, easily identified by the air ducting running to the forward part of the engine from it. The large oil coolers, electrical harness connectors and starter relay located on top of the engine make it a "D" model with this generator. The tubing running from the exhaust stacks along the top of the oil coolers is for the VEDES system (Vehicle Exhaust Dust Ejection System). The "A" in 2DA is for VEDES equipped. These particular engines were installed in late model M60A1 RISE Passives, M728A1 CEV's and M60A1 AVLB's. M60A0's had only Mechanical brakes and were never issued with the VEDES system. The tank itself has the earlier aluminum air cleaner units too, only the armored units were equipped with VEDES. The Kansas National Guard never had M60A1's, they went from M60A0 to M60A3's. Most likely this pack came from an M60A1AVLB or M728A1 CEV, since they were in the inventory long after the M60's were retired (Joe_D Afv Discussion Board, 02/2015).

⁹¹⁹ Previously part of the Isle of Wight museum. This Comet has been built by Leyland in 1944 and given the number T335252. It has been used by British Forces during the WW-II and remained in service till the early sixties. After this the Comet was stationed outside the Sennelager Barracks close to Paderborn in Germany. In 1994 it was recovered and partly restored and now it is back again in restoration to complete and perseve this lovely tank. The turret comes from Finland. It has been sold to a private collector in Wichita, Kansas

¹⁰²⁹ Also has A3012 stamped on tow lug. Possibly one of the M60A3 pilots. Has all the ID features of such a vehicle. Early Detroit produced A3's had "A3" stamped before the serial number to ID them as such. The numbers also corresponded with Pilot SN 011, RN JJ0301. All I can guess is sometime this tanks SN got changed when inventoried/transferred to another unit, or during rebuild/refurbishing. Probably because A3 012 looks like A3012 and someone assumed she was 3012A. Just another example of how aggravating it can be to track these tanks by Serial Number.SN, Location and Coordinates by Joe_D, Afv Discussion Board 04/2009

¹⁰⁹⁵ This tank carries the WD number T335001, making it the 101st Comet built at the British Leyland plant in December 1944 (Craig Moore). It was a tank of 3 Troop, 2nd Fife & Forfar Yeomanry which served in Germany in April-May, 1945 (Barry Weston). It is also one of the 8 Comet sold by the UK to Ireland in the 1960s, this is confirmed by the number plate on the rear of the turret basket (Anthony Ryan). She is marked as a tank belonging to the 35rd Royal Tank Regiment (RTR) in the 29th Armoured Brigade of the 11th Armoured Division in 1945. It was the only Brigade to be totally equipped with the Comet tank before war ends. She is painted in British standard camouflage colour 15 (SCC 15) green. During restoration it was found that she had been painted SCC 61 light stone at some point in her service possible due to a deployment in Egypt with the British Army (Craig Moore). This vehicle was part of the Budge Collection (UK) before it was scattered. It was then part of Jacques Littlefield Collection. The entire Littlefield collection was donated to the Collings Foundation, and only 80 of the 240 vehicles of the collection are now displayed in a museum in Hudson, MA. The other vehicles were sold in an auction in August 2014

¹¹⁰⁷ Apparently this is the first vehicle that Jacques Littlefield bought en started the passion for military vehicles

¹¹⁰⁸ Used to sit in front of 2nd Tank HQ's at Camp LeJeune NC. Before that was a moving target for the LAW range there. She was equipped with a blade before. You can see one of the brackets welded for it below the right drivers periscope. At one point they installed T107 track and sprockets on her from an M88 or M103A2. Has the armored air cleaners too, not an A3 upgrade. Most likely done for use on the LAW range. Nice to see her indoors. Only 6 M48A3's in the US. This is the only one not located on a Military installation. Was last rebuilt at Anniston FEB 1971 for the USMC (Joe Daneri on Facebook).

¹¹⁶⁵ This tank is definitely an odd ball. Hull has small drivers hatch and does not have the turntable opening for the M24IR drivers night sight. All M103's had the night sight, part of BII. Makes her one of the early T43/43E1 tanks that didn't get upgraded to M103 standards. RN number is bogus, missing a digit and all wrong. Shame, might help ID her. Of the initial batch of T43E1's all but 6 were converted to M103. The remaining 6 we kept for testing. Some hulls were used for experimental turrets like the T57 and T58. Others for testing upgrades to automotive and turret improvements eventually for use in M103A1 and A2 Tanks. Based on these pictures I'd bet the hull was one of those 6 and eventually was used to test the AVDS-1790 set up used in the M103A2. The turret looks like an M103A1. Cupola and lack of searchlight fittings indicate so, but with these pictures I can confirm it's not an M103A2. The bulge located under the turret bustle where the gunner was originally located in the M103 is complete. When they converted M103's to A1's they moved the gunner forward but the bulge remained. When upgraded to M103A2 standards they had to cut part of the bulge off and plate it over in order for it to clear the newer, higher rear deck. This one isn't cut. Just wish I had a better image of the sight housing opening and top of turret. There is an odd chance this tank started off as a T43E1, then was used to make one of the pilot T43E2/M103A1's, then eventually was used to test the M103A2 diesel setup. Also could be they

¹⁴⁰⁰ This tank was purchased by Hayes Otoupalik from the John Furrer War Museum in Arizona. This tank was also one of four that originally belong to MC Bradley Military Studios of North Hollywood, California. While this tank was in operational condition when purchased, it was completely restored in the late 1980s and the original M1917 37mm tank gun, which is registered, and in live firing condition was located and purchased to complete the turret. It is the only live firing 37mm tank gun known to survive (Hayes Otoupalik) A video showing Hayes Otoupalik driving his tank : <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mPkMn158Fwo>

¹⁵⁰⁰ This was one of the twenty Fisher Body Grand Blanc, MI built T26E3s that were shipped on an emergency basis to Europe before the tank had been fully tested by the US Army. Much of the testing was done by the tankers that operated them in Europe, and the twenty tanks were what was known at the "Zebra Mission." Serial numbers 27, 28, 35 and 39 participated in the taking of the Remagen Bridge Germany on March 7, 1945.

¹⁷⁷⁹ Proud American. Barrel formerly located at the U.S. Army Ordnance Museum at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

¹⁷⁸⁰ C-22, an M109, self-propelled 155mm howitzer, was built by Allison Division of General Motors in 1967. It entered the U.S. Army inventory on 6 Jan 1968 and was received at Letterkenny Army Depot 16 Feb 1968. C-22 was shipped to Vietnam 1 May 1968 and was issued to 6th FA BN, 1st INF DIV, on 22 June 1968. On the night of 28 Oct 1968, at Fire Support Base Rita in the Fish Hook area in RVN, in a heavy barrage of recoilless rifle and rocket propelled grenade fire, C-22 was hit by an RPG round causing the damage which you see on the left side. Four days later C-22 was instrumental in repelling a heavy ground attack by a North Vietnamese sapper battalion supported by intense rocket and mortar barrages. It was during this action that LTC Charles C. Rogers, now Brigadier General, earned the Medal of Honor. During this intense battle, the U.S. forces suffered 12 men killed and 54 wounded. The enemy body count inside and on the perimeter wire was 27. It was estimated that there were at least 200 bodies lying in the woods around the FSB. C-22 served with the 6th FA BN until 13 Nov 1968 when it was retired and shipped to Tooele Army Depot, Utah. It was shipped to Fort Sill on 11 Jan 1972 and became the property of the Field Artillery Museum.

¹⁸⁰¹ M53 pilot, formerly at Aberdeen proving ground

¹⁸⁰² Captured either on Luzon in the Philippines or on Okinawa, according to conflicting sources. According to Andrei M. Tomczyk, Japanese Armor, Volume 5 (Gdansk, Poland: AJ Press, 2006), p 4 (and supported by Preserved Japanese Tanks, p 27), the Ho-Ni served with the 2nd Company, 2nd Self-Propelled Artillery Regiment, and captured by the American 37th Infantry Division near Aritao (Luzon, Philippines) on April 6, 1945. However, Ordnance Museum records and the Ordnance Museum Guide CD claim it was captured on Okinawa from the 27th Tank Regiment. Formerly at the US Army Ordnance Museum, Aberdeen proving grounds, Md

¹⁸¹⁴ Former M60A1 SN 4018. GEN 2 hull with large escape hatch and late casting A1 turret. Some one had stenciled a bogus USMC registration number (579008) on the side. This tank was a former National Guard vehicle before retirement and had all the usual late model Anniston features to include the M68A1 105mm gun and forward thermal shroud as initially used on the M1. Also had modified torsion bar anchor plugs fitted with grease zerks. Typical late MWO done at MATE sites (Joe_D, Afv Discussion Board, 02/2015).

¹⁸⁵⁷ Note that his tank is the only surviving M1917 with its first type Marlin Machinegun turret mount. All other known M1917 tanks in the US have the later ball type mount for the M1919 air cooled machinegun that was developed at Rock Island Arsenal (Hayes Otoupalik). Its current restored paint scheme is based on the actual camo pattern discovered by the PA state restorers under about 3 layers of museum paint and service applied olive drab. During the researches, the museum located a very rare Marlin tank machine gun in Montana and purchased it from the collector (Mike Siggins). More information about this tank :

²⁰⁹⁶ The tube turned out to be a standard M68 105mm forged at Watervliet Arsenal NY in 1971. Only reason I can think it wasn't rifled would be it failed a magnaflux or similar non destructive testing prior to "Broaching". The tank is an interesting time capsule, being she missed out on many upgrades. One major one was the installation of the M32 (GNR) and M36 (TC) sights and VSS-1 Searchlight Installation Kit with all the ancillary guards, mounts, and connectors. The inside looks like she had a fire in the left front hull, and might explain why. The lack of upgrades leads me to believe this fire happened early in her life and subsequently was "Retired" or "Coded Out". Someone decided at one time to fix her up for a unit mascot, would also explain the tube and the engine with a rebuild date of 1972. The gunners sight housing is the original Non IR type. Also no searchlight guards are present and the top center mount has not been modified for the VSS-1. TC's cupola is still set up for the earlier M28C periscope. Also from this angle you can see the power receptacle with a single 24vdc plug as used by the older Crouse-Hinds units (Joe Daneri on Facebook).

²²⁰¹ This "Panzerkampfwagen IV Ausf H/J (hybrid) was captured by the Russian Mongols of the Red Army in Czechoslovakia and then it was eventually sold to Syria by Czechoslovakia. In 1967, it was captured by the Israelis at the Golan Heights and eventually put on display in the museum in Latru[n] along with Sturmgeschutz III Ausf G and other PzKpfw IV Ausf H. It was then traded to the Mattituck American Armoured Museum on Long Island [which later moved to Danville] for an other vehicle (Stuart) in the museum's collection," according to Steve Gabrielli, "Syrian Panzerkampfwagen IV in USA," Achtung Panzer!: PanzerKampfwagen IV.

²²⁰² This tank was purchased from Hayes Otoupalik in 1987. It originally had been acquired from the Furrer War Museum in Arizona and was originally one of four tanks that came from M.C. Bradley Military Rental Studios in Hollywood California in 1967 when this collection was dispersed. It had originally been acquired years before for use in the silent movies, such as "Wings", and later used as a Japanese tank in "Sands of Iwo Jima". This tank was still in operational condition in the 1960s (Hayes Otoupalik)

²²²³ Fahrgestell number 323814 (Rene Martinez), it has been captured at a Skoda Factory in Plzen, Czech Republic (USA AFVs register). The tank has been restored and repainted recently in a "particular" (experimental?) camouflage scheme. This paint is said to fit to the original factory layer of paint done in 1945 at the Skoda factory. Original remains of these scheme and colours have been found during the restoration when the paint was stripped away.(<http://www.twenot.nl/> forum, AFV News forum)

²²²⁴ This tank never saw any fight. It has been given to the USA for trials in 1942, together with a T-34 m1941, like the KV-1 from Bovington, UK (Alex Pankov). ²²⁴⁰ This particular tank, SN 5494, RN 9A93869, was one of the first purpose built M60A1E2's with the CBSS system and used at Fort Knox for testing. Her and SN 5446, RN 09A93469, another M60A1E2, were stored at Anniston until they, along with an M551, M60A1, and M47, were pulled from the Army CMH (Center for Military History) lot and sent to Gowen field Idaho to be used as targets. She is the only one that was saved. The A-Ducece and her program is why we have electronic fire control systems coupled with laser rangefinders and fully stabilized turrets. Biggest obstacle to her (and the M551) fielding was developing a usable combustible main gun round. Advancements in Nitro-Cellulose casings were made in combination with an effective scavenge system solved this. This led to our current 120mm rounds. The next major obstacle was getting the fully stabilized turret/cupola to work. This was solved by Chrysler Engineers and Army Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal. The results also gave us Add On Stabilization for the M60A1. All this Tech was used with the MBT-70/XM-803 project. All of this led to the M1(Joe Daneri).

²³¹⁷ Former Military Vehicle Technology Foundation, sold by Auctions America on July 11-12, 2014

²³¹⁸ This tank was previously on display at the Musée des blindés, canons et instruments de Justice of Geneva, Switzerland (Chris Shillito) and after that at Utah Military and Armament Museum, Tooele, UT

²³¹⁹ This particular vehicle was built in Czechoslovakia after World War II from salvaged parts of combat machines and factory components. These new vehicles were designated "ST-1" and the Czechoslovakian Army was equipped with some 250 ST-1 vehicles between 1949 and the later 1950's. This vehicle was acquired for operational use at Paul Allen's Flying Heritage & Combat Armor Museum on Paine Field in Everett, Washington, and is painted in the markings of Panzerjäger-Abteilung 167 (Tank Destroyer Division) which, as part of the 167 Volksgrenadier-Division, took part in the Ardennes Offensive (Battle of the Bulge) near Bastogne, Belgium, between December 1944 and January 1945 (Randy Malmstrom, facebook).

²³²⁰ Former Military Vehicle Technology Foundation vehicle, sold by Auctions America.

²³²¹ This M1A1 Abrams turret trainer was used as a teaching tool for Army turret mechanics. Obtained by the Military Vehicle Technology Foundation in 2005, a 120 mm gun was added to the piece while it was being restored. The Flying Heritage & Combat Armor Museum obtained the turret in 2014.

²³²² Painted RN 30187625, named "No Guts no Glory"

²³²³ The tank was built in the United States and then sold to the Kingdom of Jordan and was one of 197 M48 and 200 M48A1 tanks that county received beginning in the mid-1960s. Many Jordanian tanks saw combat during the Six Day War with Israel in 1967. It is unknown where this particular tank was assigned at the time. When newer tanks like the M60 became available, Jordan retired many of its M48s. This tank was a gift to the Flying Heritage Collection from the Royal Tank Museum in Aqaba, Jordan (Randy Malmstrom on facebook).

²³²⁵ Manufactured by Pressed Steel Car and has build number 2492. As far as is known, it stayed in the United States as a trainer. Early in 1945, it was sent to a re-manufacturing facility to be released to the Dutch Armerd Forces under a Major Defense Acquisition Program (as defined in Title 10, U.S. Code 2430). Acquired by a British collector (I don't recall the name), it was restored by C&C Military Services in Ludgershall, Buckinghamshire, South East England. It is painted in the colors of "Boomerang," a tank of the 7th Armored Division, 31st Tank Battalion, which was lost in September 1944 in The Netherlands (Randy Malmstrom on Facebook).

²³²⁶ Former Military Vehicle Technology Foundation vehicle, sold by Auctions America.

²³²⁷ Painted with the markings of 3051254-S ("Carol")SN 8183 of the 3rd Battalion, 33rd Armored Regiment, 3rd Armored Division ("Spearhead"), based in Normandy, France in November of 1944 (without a Collen Hedgerow Cutter). All tanks from the 33rd Armored Regiment have the number C-xx and a nickname starting with the letter "C."

²³²⁸ This M7B1 was converted back from an M7B2 and comes from an unknown fire range in Germany. Formerly at the Normandy Tank Museum, Catz, France.

²³²⁹ Named "Colorado"

²³³⁰ Built in February or April 1944 at Nibelungenwerke at St. Valentin in Lower Austria. Like many preserved PzKpfw IV tanks in museums, it served with the Syrian Army in the 1950s, having come from Czechoslovakia (after 1945, the Czechoslovak army operated them under the designation T-40/75). The Israelis captured it in 1967 during the Six-Day War and used it for training purposes before being exhibited in the Israeli Armor Museum at Latrun in 1994. In 2003, it was obtained from Israel by the Military Vehicle Technology Foundation (the Littlefield Collection) in Arlington, Texas, and in 2014 it was auctioned off and acquired by Paul Allen for the Flying Heritage & Combat Armor Museum (FHCAM) on Paine Field In Everett, Washington. It is not functional as of yet, but I understand it is to undergo restoration at some point (Randy Malmstrom on facebook).

²³³¹ running condition, former Military Vehicle Technology Foundation. Sold by Auctions America on July 11-12, 2014 for $1.207.500.

²³³² T-34-85 KMDB (Kharkov Morozov Machine Building Design Bureau) medium tank. From what I have determined, this particular tank was built after World War II at the J.V. Stalin Factory in Martin (Slovakia). It was restored to its present status first by a Czech crew combining the chassis from one and the engine and running gear from a Czech VT-35 armored recovery tank, and then in the U.S. It is painted as a vehicle which would have fought in Belarus in January 1945. The markings on the turret: the diamond denotes a Soviet tank with the brigade number inside and the text refers to the commander (General Bagramjana), Randy Malmstrom on facebook
